

Alfred Dockery, Author Bio

Short Bio: Alfred Dockery is a technical editor, self-described armchair detective, and hobby historian who mainly writes true crime stories set in the Appalachian Mountains.

Medium Bio: Alfred Dockery is a self-described armchair detective and hobby historian who mainly writes true crime stories set in the Appalachian Mountains. He is a technical editor and former trade press journalist.

Long Bio: Alfred Dockery is a self-described armchair detective and hobby historian who mainly writes true crime stories set in the Appalachian Mountains. He is a technical editor and former trade press journalist for publications like Textile World and Furniture Today. He also writes about historically bad science and inventions in a Substack: A History of Bad Ideas. Alfred is an Asheville native and an N.C. State graduate. You can find more of his work on his blog, blueridgetruecrime.com.